Vance Wagner, Regional President 303-394-5100

American National Bank Moves to New Downtown Location.

Committed to investing in banking facilities to meet customer needs, American National Bank is proud to expand its service to the Boulder community and move into a new location at 1369 Walnut Street. Serving both personal and business financial needs this 4,900 sq. ft. full-service banking center has a spacious lobby, a walk-up service window and a 24-hour walk-up ATM. In addition, a community conference room is available.

Steve Bryant, Market President of the Boulder Banking Center explains that the new location is a great opportunity to continue to grow roots in the community. "Every member of the Boulder staff is from the Boulder community, experienced, knowledgeable and delivers the personalized quality service each customer deserves," he said.

Because American National Bank has other locations in Colorado and Wyoming, and is headquartered in Denver, Colorado, the independent banking group has given their employees, the empowerment to make decisions for their customers. This local decision-making power allows Steve and his experienced staff to provide banking services tailored to meet the customer's needs.

Vance Wagner, Regional President, said that American National Bank's success is dependent on delivering quality products and services by local professionals that are committed to providing superior customer service. "We have the right management team with Steve's sixteen years of banking experience who has been serving the Boulder community for over four years, earning the trust of his customers. It's the combination of high quality products and high quality people that provide the foundation for success.”

American National Bank is focused on providing customers with the relationship banking they deserve. This banking philosophy of providing customers with personal service and local decision making will support the investments American National Bank continues to make in Boulder and its future.

Coinciding with this new banking center in Boulder, American National Bank in Grand Junction has broken ground on another new full-service location in the northwest part of the city. In addition new locations are coming along the front range in Castle Rock and Monument, Colorado.

American National Bank is headquartered in Denver, Colorado with over $2.1 billion in assets and is a member of the Sturm Financial Group. It offers community banking with 37 locations in Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri.
